Philip M. Riefkin, vice president of the Equitable Fuel company, Baltimore, is on a business trip to the Fairmont region today and while in the city is registered at The Fairmont.

Mr. Reifkin, who is a fuel expert, as formerly connected with the Unit of States Bureau of Mines, and had charge of all the coal purchasing for the E. I. du Pont de Nemours Powder Corporation during the World war. If reight has his offices in the Haryland Trust Building, Baltimore.

Badly in Need of Coal Industrial plants in the eastern art of the country are scarce of fuel and in a number of instances they was strength of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad on Thursday was twenty-five trains, which are the coal regions for the purpose of starting up shipments. With the asged car supply it is a difficult mataged car

Ralph C. Davidson, representing the calcass Steel Company, Coatesville, with offices in the Commercial Trust Building, Philadelphia, says that the plants of the company are parainst it for coal and have reach mont have been removed from the ip against it for coal and have reached a point where if coal is not soon forthcoming they will have to close flown. Commercial plants in many instances have contracts, but little is being filled o nthem and they naturally will not buy spot coal on the market at prices like $3.60 a ton.

W. E. Sturges, Jr., Washington, D. C. is in the region today trying to secure coal for the Phoenix Iron Company, Phoenixville, Pa. Much of the coal shipped to that firm in the past had been confiscated by railroads, which placed an additional burden on this concern.
